

THE UNIVERSITY of EDINBURGH
Edinburgh Surgery Online

Access our world class online Ophthalmology Masters.

Applications
open for September
entry

MSc/Dip/Cert in Primary Care Ophthalmology
ChM (Master of Surgery) in Clinical Ophthalmology

Enhance your ophthalmic knowledge and clinical practice with world class postgraduate teaching online at The University of Edinburgh. Flexible part-time e-learning from anywhere in the world to complement busy working lives and shift patterns. Supports learning for professional and fellowship examinations.

Scholarships available

Find out more and apply online at www.ed.ac.uk/ophthalmology/masters

Join our Global Online Community

ChM (Master of Surgery) in Clinical Ophthalmology:

Advanced education and training for ophthalmic trainees/residents and ophthalmologists preparing for the fellowship examinations and approaching consultancy.

The David and Molly Pyott Foundation Scholarships in Ophthalmology – Deadline for Applications 1st June 2020

Twelve online learning Masters scholarships are available for eligible candidates from Africa, Central and South Asia, Caribbean Islands, Pacific Islands, Central and Latin America who have been accepted for admission to the two-year, part-time online ChM (Master of Surgery) in Clinical Ophthalmology.

MSc in Primary Care Ophthalmology:

High quality education and training for the next generation of optometrists, medical and surgical trainees, GPs and other eye healthcare professionals. Scholarships available.

- Flexible online learning to complement busy working lives and shift patterns with no need to take time out of practice or training
- Study with us from the comfort of your own home or workplace
- We recommend 10-15 hours of study per week minimum
- Access to high quality interactive resources, including an unparalleled online library

Drawn to EDINBURGH
by our global online community

You are in good company. Two million students from around the world have studied with us online. Learn more at www.ed.ac.uk